Good Morning CASA Students and Families:

As the majority of our sending high schools will be starting the school year virtually, CASA will be offering on-line instruction only this fall. Our classes will take place during our regularly scheduled time, and teachers will be providing live instruction.

- Attendance will be required and recorded.
- Assignments and assessments will be graded, and students will receive frequent feedback.
- Students and staff will be given clear guidelines for teaching, learning and participation.

CASA has had a team of dedicated teachers working over the summer to ensure that all our staff has appropriate equipment and training to deliver robust remote instruction this fall. Our hope is that things will improve enough by November that we will see our students back at CASA, but again, we will follow the lead of our sending districts to maintain the utmost safety of our students and staff.

Please look for further communication regarding online learning expectations and procedures. We will also be scheduling times for students to come to CASA to pick up their books and materials for the school year.

Please let me know if you have any questions.

Warmly,

Jennifer Gebbie

Director
